LNG sellers should be more flexible and focus on expansions – Woodside

Despite tough conditions in the market, mature LNG suppliers should offer more flexibility and focus on expansions in the medium to long term, Woodside CEO Peter Coleman said at the METI LNG Producer-Consumer Conference in Tokyo on Thursday.

“As LNG projects, including Woodside’s own North West Shelf Project, mature and pay back their original capital investment, sellers can and should become more flexible in their offerings to buyers,” he said.
