First Nations group approves Steelhead's Sarita LNG project

The Huu-ay-aht First Nations group has approved a "co-management development arrangement" for Steelhead's proposed Sarita LNG plant in British Columbia (BC), becoming the first Canadian indigenous group to take such a position in an LNG project.

Of the approximately 750-strong Huu-ay-aht group, 70% voted in favour of the project situated 10 km north of Bamfield on Vancouver Island.
