Enagas and Repsol refuel LNG vessel directly from regas plant in ‘EU first’

Spanish energy companies Repsol and Enagás have refuelled a seagoing ship with LNG fuel directly from a regasification plant in what is being described as a first in Europe.

The “pioneering” five-hour operation – known as pipe-to-ship bunkering – was carried out at the Mediterranean port of Cartagena in Murcia using flexible cryogenic transfer hoses connecting the ship directly to the terminal.
