Turkey ready to reignite Turk Stream pipeline – Russian state media

Turkey is ready to start building the first leg of the proposed 63 Bcm/year Turk Stream pipeline to Russia, according to Russian state media reports quoting Turkish economy minister Nihat Zeybekci.

"We are open for construction of the first line of the Turkish Stream from standpoint of Turkey's need for natural gas... Political decisions are in place to settle the issue of further implementation of the project," Zeybekci said.
