WAGL FSRU project to start in July 2017 – reports

West Africa Gas Limited (WAGL) is expected to start operations at the Golar Tundra floating storage and regasification unit (FSRU) in Ghana next July, around a year later than originally scheduled, according to reports.

Conflicting explanations have emerged. News sources citing WAGL officials suggest that Tema port requires dredging and other major work before it can accommodate the FSRU, which has been anchored off the coast of Tema city since May.
