NextDecade resurrects Irish LNG debate with FSRU proposal offshore Cork

Texas LNG player NextDecade is looking to export US gas into Ireland after signing a memorandum of understanding with the Port of Cork to collaborate on installing an FSRU in the country's waters.

NextDecade said it would provide the Cork-based FSRU project with 3 mtpa of LNG from its proposed Rio Grande LNG plant in the south of Texas, with first LNG production expected in 2020.

"The development would provide ...
