NextDecade shrinks EPC costs and proposes phased built-out of Rio Grande LNG

NextDecade has said it is looking to take a final investment decision (FID) for just 9 mtpa of its proposed 27 mtpa Rio Grande LNG plant in Texas, and is working to deliver the plant at a build cost of USD 450/tonne of liquefaction capacity.

The US LNG developer said the highly competitive build cost is a target it is working towards with ...
